Dear Mr President:

I am concerned about irresponsibility. Two adults in five have less than 500 dollars saved for emergencies and only vanishingly few have wealthy parents to hit up yet your wall tantrum continues and your comments belie a complete disconnect. You say those you are stiffing support your goals and should just negotiate with their grocers. Your daughter says their sacrifice is for the best. Representative Meadows' says people should just be prepared for your tantrums. Economic Advisor Hassett calls this a free vacation. Finally Secretary Ross explains that the government need not be concerned with only a million people, encapsulating the shocking level of indifference shown by your administration. When you had only your father's money (and maybe some from President Putin) to promise people and then not deliver prison may have been appropriate but you hurt far fewer than your shut down does today.

Please assure me that you will take Mr Kerry's advice and resign.

I am very proud to be a US resident and a large part of that derives from our responsible government.

Sincerely,
Eric Babson
