Dear Mr President:

I am concerned to hear of possible changes in federal regulations to allow harassment of transsexuals. One important function of a national government is to protect the weakest groups among us. Local and state governments are more easily cowed by bigots. Bigotry against one group leads to attacks on others and weakens our society.

Please assure me that you will use your administration to encourage a more egalitarian society.

I am very proud to be a US resident and a large part of that derives from our long history of equality before the law.

Sincerely,
Eric Babson
