Dear Senator Feinstein:

I am concerned by the possible demise of internet neutrality rules. The rise of the internet with its relatively free information flow has become a great resource and equalizer. This has been helped by regulations keeping content reasonably separate from service providers. Internet functions socially like many other utilities and should be regulated accordingly. The internet is a huge benefit to society.

Please assure me that you will support egalitarian internet policies.

I am very proud to be a US resident and a large part of that derives from our responsible government.

Sincerely,
Eric Babson
