Dear Mr President:

I am concerned about justice. The US government has traditionally distributed its powers among various people and branches. Criminal prosecutions have fallen under the Justice department and interference with ongoing investigations by other officials has been frowned upon. Most recently Deputy Attorney General Rosenstein has been threatened by articles of impeachment leaked by Representative Meadows but you have also asserted this week an intention of interfering with the Justice department. You have called on the Justice Department to initiate investigations of Ms Clinton, asserted that the role of the this Department should be protecting you and frequently commented on the ongoing investigation of Special Counsel Mueller... even trying to fire him. You are the second president to try this.

Please assure me that you will focus on your job.

I am very proud to be a US resident and a large part of that derives from our government of laws.

Sincerely,
Eric Babson
