Dear Mr President:

I am concerned about the changing climate. Future generations will judge ours by how we deal with this crisis. There are more fires here in California, increasingly severe storms around the country, more crop failures around the world and sea levels are beginning to rise. Data collection and modeling keep improving and emissions keep increasing making the future look increasingly dire. Unfortunately you began this job by pulling out of the Paris accord and continued by rescinding emissions standards, propping up failing coal plants and fighting with state governments as they tried to step up. This week you abandoned negotiations with California over vehicle emissions even managing to draw a rebuke from the auto industry lobby. Some in congress are beginning to grapple with the enormity of this issue. Now is the time to act.

Please assure me that you will support the Green New Deal.

I am very proud to be a US resident and a large part of that derives from our regulatory leadership.

Sincerely,
Eric Babson
