Dear Mr President:

I am concerned about tax cheats. Your attitude toward taxes became clear in your campaign comment that not paying them made you smart, your refusal to release your returns and the trillion dollar welfare for the wealthy tax bill you championed. Your attitude toward cheating was became in your affair with Ms Daniels, your affair with Russia and your approach to loans. Your attitude toward cheating on taxes became clear in Mr Cohen's testimony, your end run around inheritance taxes, your enthusiasm for Mr Moore and his tax bills and your continuation of the long standing Republican project of defunding the IRS. At the same time your recent budget proposal suggests vicious cutbacks to SNAP, the ACA, housing subsidies and of course the Special Olympics. Besides the dent in the budget, widespread cheating is increasing the wealth gap and fosters cynicism and corruption throughout society.

Please assure me that you will enforce tax law.

I am very proud to be a US resident and a large part of that derives from our honesty.

Sincerely,
Eric Babson
