Dear Ms Lee:

I am concerned about crime. The President has interpreted the end of his Senate trial for foreign bribery and obstruction as an invitation to lawlessness. This is frightening in light of his previous behavior. You and your colleagues tried to address for instance his blatant profiteering from office through the courts but last week three members of the DC Appeals Court found that you lack standing. I can only assume the implication to be that this and his many other violations should instead be brought to the Senate in the form of impeachments.

Please assure me that you will impeach the President for his flagrant emoluments violations.

I am very proud to be a US resident and a large part of that derives from our constitution.

Sincerely,
Eric Babson
