Dear Mr President:

I am concerned about faith in elections. Democracy is being undermined by wild claims folded into frivolous law suits by people in your pay and with your tweeted support. While the incompetence of this coup attempt which includes filings to disenfranchise millions is striking it will still leave many people with less confidence in future elections and a generation of party apparatchiks prepared to consider undermining results they dislike. Perhaps the immediate effect will be to discourage Republicans in Georgia from voting in January but over a longer term it will further debase the government you have spent your term shredding.

Please assure me that you will disavow and prosecute Mr Giuliani.

I am very proud to be a US resident and a large part of that derives from our democracy.

Sincerely,
Eric Babson
