Read, Reflect, and React (or Respond) Prompt #3

Now that you have taken the first exam and know the result, it is time to sit back and reflect. Even though it’s not good to dwell on the past, it’s important to use our past experiences to prepare for the future, namely the second exam. I have always considered the first exam as a practice test to determine how the professor makes the test, among other things, and I would always update my study habits and test preparation scheme accordingly. With this in mind, please respond to the following:

1. Did you receive the grade that you wished for on the first exam?
   a) If so, estimate how many hours a week you spend on this class (including lectures). Now imagine you only have half that amount of time every week (i.e. you get a job that takes that time away). Discuss how your study habits would change and whether you still could attain the same grade on exam 2.
   b) If not, discuss changes to your test preparation scheme that you believe will enable you to get the desired grade on exam 2.
